SONORA UNION HIGH SCHOOL

THE 1942 GREEN AND GOLD

IS PRESENTED AS A TRIBUTE TO

25 YEARS

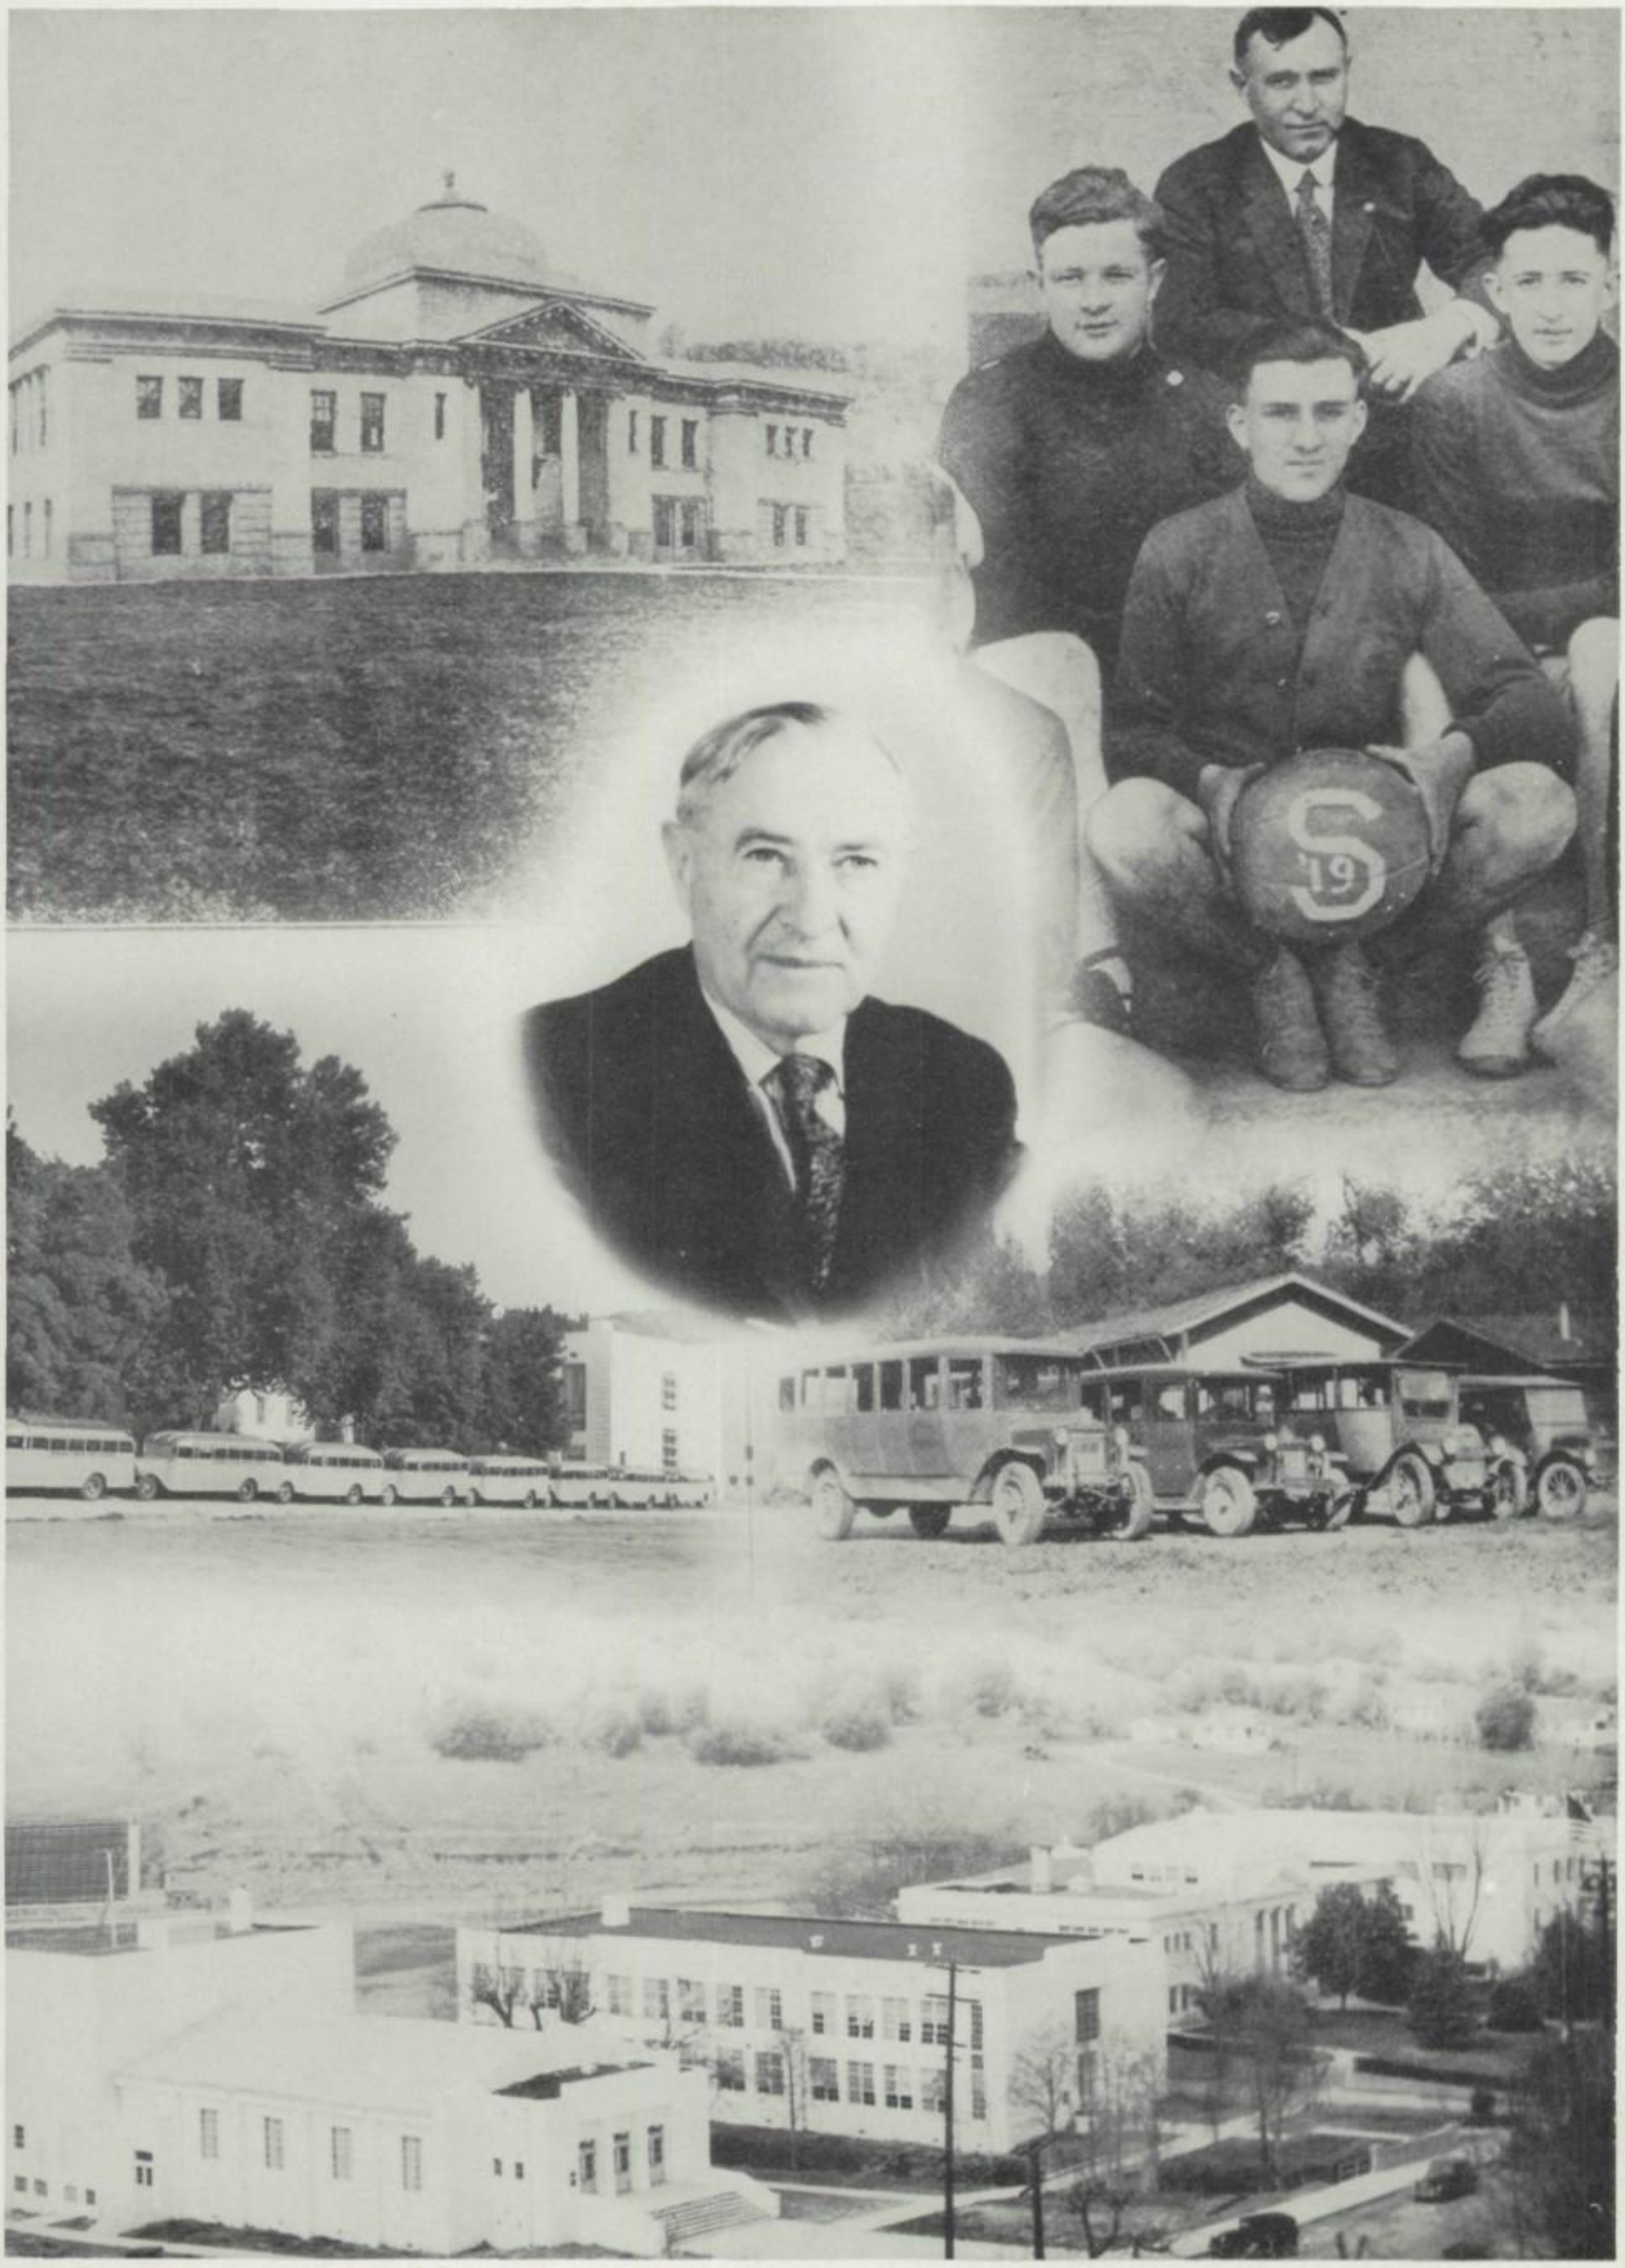
In looking back over the past 25 years, we find that you began your administrative career at the Sonora Union High School in 1917. You also served as coach and taught chemistry and general science. In 1921, you were the coach of Sonora's first football team. When the student body began to increase, you bade farewell to the classroom in order to devote full time to the increasing perplexities of administrative problems.

You have been instrumental in making improvements. A new science building, auditorium, agriculture building, woodwork shop, football stadium, baseball field, and bus shed have been built during your administration. Now our school is one of the finest in Central California.

Your unselfish loyalty, unbiased friendship, distinguished leadership, and spirit of fair play have made you an ideal civic leader not only in your own school and community but throughout the state.

May these leaves serve as a memento of our appreciation of your counsel and of your friendly cooperation.

OUR PRINCIPAL VERNON A. DUNLAVY



OUR
Trustees and Office Force

The Board of Trustees of the Sonora Union High School composed of Rowan Hardin, Charles E. Shafer, and Garnet Barron, was joined this year by two new members. The newly elected trustees are Dr. Bruce Defiebre and Attorney John Bartlett. At the first meeting of the Board, Attorney Rowan Hardin was elected President and Garnet Barron, Clerk. The following committees were appointed to act throughout the year: Building and Grounds: Garnet Barron, Dr. Bruce Defiebre, and Charles E. Shafer; Auditing: Rowan Hardin and John Bartlett.

The Board of Trustees has helped with many problems around the school this year, such as the erecting of the agriculture shop, the dismantling of the old Macomber building, the landscaping of the grounds, the building of retaining walls along the creek, and the laying of a new pipe line to take care of the water right acquired with the purchase of the new grounds.

We, of the High School, wish to thank our fine Board of Trustees for their very efficient service and for the maintenance of our very attractive school grounds.

Due to the resignation of Mrs. Jackie Bristol Honey as general secretary of the school, Miss Hortense Danicourt, who graduated in the Class of 1941, has been employed in her place.

Mr. Paul E. Dawson, Vice Principal, has been able to devote all of his time to his duties as vice principal since he is not doing any coaching this year. He has also been appointed as one of the student guidance directors.

Miss Laura Marie Henry, teacher of mathematics, has been attendance supervisor this past year. She is also acting in the capacity of Dean of Girls and Guidance Director.

Miss Shirley Hutchins, graduate of Sonora Union High in 1941, has been acting as attendance clerk.

Under these directors, work several students of the office practice class. They are as follows: Peggy Lee, Virgie Sullivan, Edna Lattie, Geneva Leary, John Gresham, Beverly Penrose, Mabel Suttle, Ted Ennis, and Betty Lind.

OUR Faculty

There've been schools without books; there are schools without buildings; but there never will be schools without teachers. Sonora Union High School has a capable and talented teaching staff, selected from ten of America's leading universities. In fact, they're all so talented they might have gone places in other professions if they hadn't preferred to help young people.

Miss Smelser, for example, might have continued as research chemist at U. C. Miss Parli could have remained a professional bookkeeper. Mr. Swan and Mr. Cardwell might still be playing first trumpets in big-name bands. Mr. Pearce might have stayed in radio broadcasting; Mr. Borelli in the window-decorating business; and if Mr. Dawson had remained a bus driver, what a swell coach and counselor we would have missed!

Mrs. Sargent might still be instructing foreigners in the intricacies of English; Mr. Robinson could still be bucking logs in a lumber camp if he hadn't realized his work was teaching future farmers. Mr. Dusel studied two years toward an M. D. before he decided he'd rather work with well people.

Mr. Barron might have gone into professional football—he was varsity captain at C. O. P. Miss Long might have kept on with her work in experimental horticulture. And Misses Peddicord and Henry, quite possibly, might have met and organized Girl Scout Camps for a living—they both are experienced counselors.

Mrs. Bailey might well have become a traveling correspondent and world traveler; and Miss Davis could still be doing speech correction work with pre-school children. Mr. Fiorini was—and still is—a trained government fruit inspector; Miss Milligan reveals that she might have chosen the quiet life of a cloistered nun or the active life of a sister of charity. Miss West might still be modeling and selling sportswear in dress shops. And Sonora would not have its capable shop instructor if Mr. Ferguson had decided to stay with the U. S. Army after World War I.

Thanks, teachers, for giving up such fascinating-sounding jobs just to come here and pound knowledge into our often-unwilling heads.

This teaching staff has had its share of social events during the year. In early October a "Hobo Picnic" was planned by the Fiorinis and Dusels as a reception for the new teachers. Mr. Dunlavy's birthday was honored by a dinner and card party at Cold Springs; and the Dunlavys, in turn, invited all to a Christmas party at their home. Just a few months ago Mr. Ferguson headed a surprise "House Warming" for the Dawsons. So, all in all, our teachers report they have had a pleasant year with us and with each other.

Student Government

The Student Body Commissioners have been very successful in emerging from a debt of $550.00. A more extensive drive was made to sell student body cards which were sold before school, at noon, during seventh period, and in the locker rooms each period. The Student Body received $531.00 from the sale of cards alone. The $2.00 card allowed the holder to attend all Student Body activities for $.05 each and also gave him reductions at theatres and the bowling alley. The remainder of the debt was cleared by means of a carnival held in September. Approximately $50.00 was realized from this venture into the field of entertainment.

A new amendment was passed this year whereby any commissioner will be automatically relieved of his duties as a student body officer, if he is absent from commissioners' meetings three times in one semester, without having been excused previously.

A week before the Sonora-Oakdale football game, Green and Gold hats, pins, and feathers were sold by each commissioner in an effort to create more enthusiasm for the game. Student Body President, John Gresham, gave pep talks in sponsor meetings and assemblies. The Student Body responded whole-heartedly and it has been felt that school spirit has been unusually keen this year.

The Commissioners thought that in this year of world-wide war they should extend their sphere of activity beyond the school. They "adopted" a patient at Weimar and endeavored to bring some joy into his life. They sponsored a sports carnival and with the money earned, purchased a $100.00 defense bond.

Traffic Commissioner, David Brown, has done an excellent job this year in keeping the hall monitors doing their job efficiently. He helped to work out car-parking plans which have greatly relieved traffic congestion around the school.

The Student Body Commissioners have worked hard this year and feel that a great measure of their success is due to their sponsors, Mr. Barron and Miss Parli, and to the cooperation they have received from the entire school.

Senior Record

One hundred and forty meek children entered the Sonora Union High School in 1938 and were initiated into the joys and hardships of high school life. A freshman reception and sophomore return party made up the social activities of our first year.

During our sophomore year we had the pleasure of entering our new science building and auditorium.

In our junior year, after the mystery play, "The Panther's Claw," and other money-raising activities, we gave the junior-senior prom which was carried out in a patriotic theme.

Now in our senior year, the boys' and girls' baasketball teams upset tradition by defeating the faculty teams. We presented the patriotic play, "Lease on Liberty." Our prom was an outstanding event in our year and helped the 103 seniors remaining in our class, to forget the anxieties concerning our graduation on June 1.

Junior History

The class of '43 spent the year working most industriously to raise money for the senior banquet and prom. Because of the enthusiasm and cooperation of each junior, our projects were very successful.

We were vendors, literally and figuratively speaking, of everything salable, including pom-poms, pine cones, hot dogs, candy, basketball-schedule pencils, and junior-class play tickets. The play "George Gets Going," a clever comedy, was given in January and proved to be a huge success.

The class enjoyed two dancing parties: one held after the play; the other, following the pencil-sale drive. A dance after the Tuolumne basketball game was also given.

For the senior prom we carried out a South American motif to promote the good neighbor policy. The prom was on the evening of May 15.

After all the scheduled class activities were completed, the juniors bought a defense bond.

Sophomore Review

The sophomore class had an enjoyable year. During the first week of school, we smeared lipstick on the freshmen and tormented them in many other ways.

On November 7, we had our Baby Day. All the freshmen came to school wearing short dresses, hair bows, short trousers, or similar clothing. That night "Swinger" Swan and his "Hepcats" entertained the dancers with their rocking jive. Dorothy Lyon, Mae Baker, and Mr. Dusel furnished further entertainment.

The green and gold streamers, which hung from the lights overhead, created a pleasant lighting effect. On the curtains of the gymnasium stage the word "Welcome" was printed; then, going around the gym, clock-wise, were the words "Freshmen-from-the-Sophomores."

In December, the freshmen gave us a return dance and showed us that they knew how to put over a party. Vic Filiberti furnished the jive. Fern Stahl, Doris Gresham, and Alice Battarini entertained us. Dorothy Lyon sang a song to the freshman from the sophomores.

We are eagerly looking forward to our junior year with all its work and pleasures.

Freshmen Facts

One hundred and forty-four freshmen enrolled during the first few days of school and were forced to endure the usual humiliation of an indiscriminate application of lipstick and rouge. We were greatly relieved when the second week arrived and we were allowed to enjoy life in our own way.

On October 15, we had a wienie roast and dance at Phoenix Lake. Miss Milligan organized the picnic so that everybody had a wonderful time and became better acquainted with his classmates.

November 7 was Baby Day. Short trousers, abbreviated dresses, and huge hair bows were the order of the day. That evening the sophomores gave us a party that made us feel that we were truly welcomed into the school.

Our return party to the sophomores took place the evening of December 5. We decorated the gymnasium with patriotic colors. Music was furnished by Vic Filiberti's orchestra.

We hope to be able to work together as well during our next three years as we have this year.

Wildcat Staff

This year's Wildcat staff inaugurated several new policies in an effort to make the school paper interesting to all. First, it was made a weekly; then, an illustrated makeup was developed, under the direction of Mr. Dusel. Soon after America entered the war, the Wildcat was sent regularly to all our students and alumni who joined the armed forces. Their letters to Mr. Dunlavy were published in a weekly column. A national rotogravure section was included as a monthly feature, showing happenings in other high schools of the country.

Because the Wildcat was usually put together after school hours, rare fidelity was necessary. Patty Dunlavy, editor, assumed the leadership in writing, typing, and makeup. Byron Rowe, sports editor, proved the most valuable man on the staff; and Wendell Phillips was probably the most reliable reporter. Mrs. Bailey, who supervised the printing, reports that Elwin Williams, stencil artist, will be a hard man to replace.

Green & Gold Staff

The Green and Gold staff has to assume many responsibilities during the school year in order to raise sufficient money to produce our annual. During football season we had the hot dog and candy concession at several games and managed to emerge with a profit. We sponsored the play, "Where There's A Will," which was very capably directed by Mr. Pearce. The Christmas season found the Green and Gold staff members working with spruce, fur and pine cones to make wreaths for the Yuletide. Basketball came with the winds and the rains of January and February and again the Green and Gold staff scored financially by selling candy to crowds of spectators. We also earned a goodly sum of money by sponsoring the men's and women's Senior-Faculty basketball games.

With spring came the snapshot hunters. Even our camera-shy fellow students were routed from hiding places and persuaded to pose for pictures.

The Green and Gold staff wishes to thank the faculty, the students, and all the people of the county who have supported us in our efforts to produce an annual that is representative of our school year 1941-42.
